

Local traces of Jewish life in Sighetu Marmatiei, Romania

WEDNESDAY, 11.02.2015

Firstly the whole group visited the Memorial of the Victims of Communism and of the Resistance. The building is a former prison where many people died because of their political views, which weren't accepted by the communists after World War II. It is an international centre for studies into communism, founded in 1993, and it's an institute of research for the history of 20th century.

Prisoning clothes

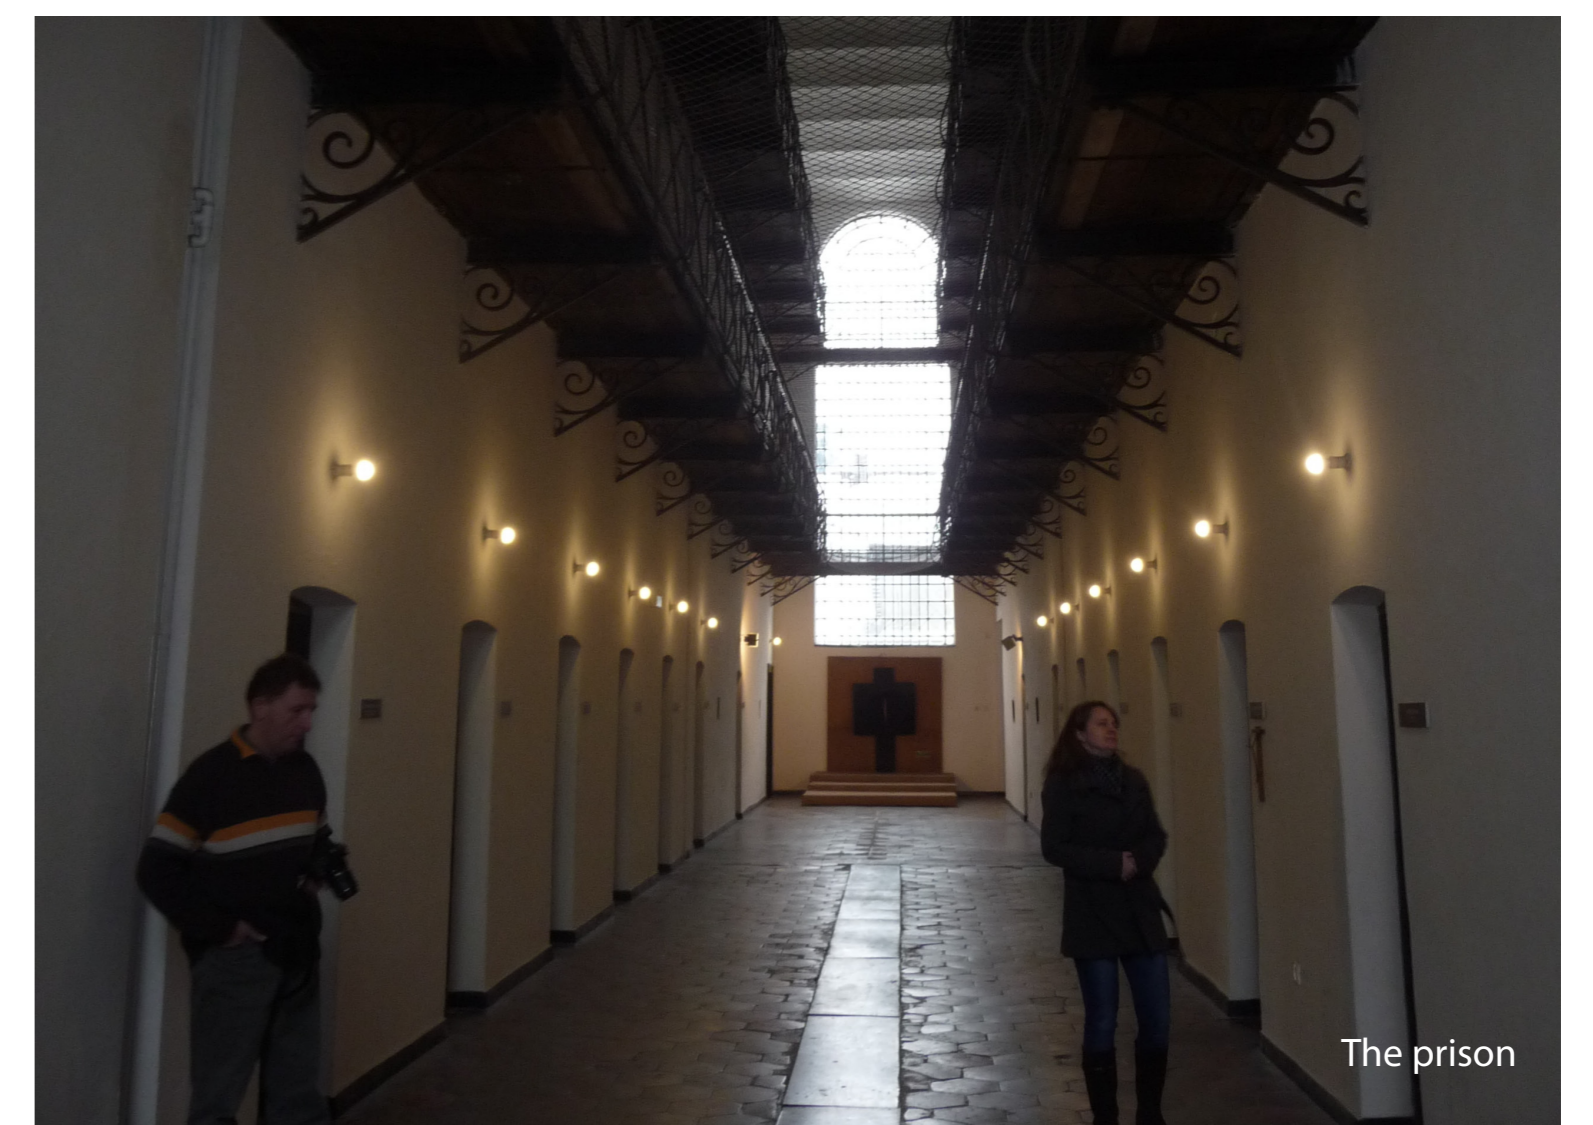

Zionists process

Emigration of Romanian Jews to Israel after the beginning of the communist era

Work camps in Romania - Map

The prison

Memorial

Commemorating the victims of the communist era

Later the team made a trip to Bârsana and visited Bârsana Monastery, one of the most famous tourist attraction of the county, where they saw the traditional wooden buildings typical for Maramures architecture. Afterwards they met a woodcarver who explained to them some of the symbols of the wooden gates and they could admire some of his work shown there.

Visiting the school in Botiza

Jewish cemetery Botiza

Monastery Botiza

Traditional clothes